Bob Ebel

Diver Bob Ebel and swimmer Tim Kegelman are the only two Notre Dame student-athlete ever to take part in the NCAA Men's Swimming and Diving Championships. Ebel, a native of St. Louis, Mo., did so in three-meter diving as a sophomore in 1975. He qualified with a record-breaking performance in a dual meet against Illinois State on Feb. 22 in the Rockne Memorial Pool. Ebel's score of 302.65 also would stand as the school record for the next 15 years. Kegelman, who hails from Yorktown, Pa., competed at the 2005 NCAA Championships after earning his berth with a season-best time in the 100-yard butterfly of 47.66. He also swam in the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard fly, however he was disqualified from the latter.

A variety of other Irish swimmers and divers have been close to qualifying, including a very near miss by diver Andy Maggio in 2002.

Notre Dame swimmers have taken part in a variety of other major national and international meets over the past decade, culminating in current freshman Andrew MacKay's participation in the 2004 Olympic Games in Athens, Greece. MacKay, the first native of the Cayman Islands ever to qualify for the Olympics in swimming, took part in both the 200- and 400-meter individual medleys and broke his own national records in both events. In the longer race, it took him just 0.59 seconds to get off the starting blocks at the commencement of the race, and that reaction time was the fastest of any non-backstroker (male or female) during the entire Athens Olympics. He moved up from his seeding in both races to finish 33rd in the 400 IM and 41st in the shorter event.

While MacKay is Notre Dame's first men's swimming Olympian, various other Irish student-athletes have taken part in high-profile national and international meets, as well. Dan Szilier, a 2000 graduate who still holds the University record in the 200-yard breaststroke, was the most accomplished of that group, as he finished ninth in the 200-meter breaststroke in the 1999 World University Games in Palma de Mallorca, Spain. Szilier qualified for that team by taking seventh at the 1998 USA Swimming Summer National Championships. In 1997, Szilier was tabbed Rookie of the Meet at the USA Swimming Spring National Championships, ending up third in the 200 breast and eighth in the 100 breast.

James Scott-Browne, a distance freestyler who swam for the Irish from 1997-99, also had some international experience. He was a member of USA Swimming's national junior team, which took part in a variety of meets abroad. Additionally, Scott-Browne participated in the 1997 World Scholar-Athlete Games.

The 2000 U.S. Olympic Trials had three Notre Dame swimmers – Szilier, Jonathan Pierce (1,500 free), and Ryan Verlin (200 fly) – competing. Szilier led the Irish contingent by finishing 29th in the 200 breast. MacKay also competed in the 2004 World Championships in Indianapolis, Ind., swimming the 100-meter IM.

Various other Notre Dame competitors have participated in the USA Swimming senior national meets.

Synchronized diving has been a staple of the Dennis Stark Relays at various times over the years, including in 2001, when Andy Maggio (left) and Joe Miller (right) took first place off the three-meter board.

Frank Krakowski swam the freestyle leg on the Notre Dame Invitational record-setting 200-yard medley relay team in 2003. He was joined on the squad by Doug Bauman, Tim Randolph and Tim Kegelman.

Byron V. Kanaley Award

The most prestigious honor awarded to a Notre Dame student-athlete, the Byron V. Kanaley Award has been presented each year since 1927 to the senior monogram athletes who have been most exemplary as both students and leaders.

The awards, presented by the Faculty Board on Athletics, are named in honor of a 1904 Notre Dame graduate who was a member of the Irish baseball team as an undergraduate. Kanaley went on to a successful banking career in Chicago and served the University as a lay trustee from 1915 until his death in 1960.

Six members of the Notre Dame men's swimming and diving team have received the award, including three since 2000.

The University of Notre Dame is the nation's leading example that academic and athletic excellence can go hand in hand, and the Irish men's swimming and diving team does its part in upholding that tradition.

Notre Dame is ranked in the Top 20 of the U.S. News & World Report survey of America's best national universities and was 16th in the 2004-05 NACDA Directors' Cup standings of the top all-around collegiate athletic programs in the nation. A 2003 report by the National Collegiate Scouting Association listed Notre Dame second (behind Stanford) in Division I-A rankings for top academic and athletic schools, based on graduation percentages, U.S. News & World Report academic rankings, and NACDA Directors' Cup results.

In 2003, Notre Dame was the recipient of the USA Today/NCAA Academic Achievement Award for having the highest overall student-athlete graduation rate among Division I schools, 92 percent. The University boasts an amazing 99 percent graduation rate for student-athletes who exhaust their eligibility at Notre Dame and the overall student body graduates at a 95 percent clip – the second-highest mark in the country, behind only Harvard.

Among all of their academic accomplishments, the Irish rank second all-time in the number of student-athletes honored as Academic All-Americans, with 152.

The men's swimming and diving team has traditionally been a strong link in the Irish chain of academic excellence, as it is regularly honored with the Collegiate Swimming Coaches Association of America (CSCAA) Academic All-Star awards for their high team grade-point averages. In the spring semester of 1999, Notre Dame held the distinction of boasting the highest team grade-point average among all Division I men's swimming and diving programs, a 3.352 mark. That was part of a string of seven consecutive semesters in which Notre Dame was in the top 10 on that list. More recently, the Irish ranked 24th in the fall 2003 semester with a 3.050 GPA and 12th in spring '04 with a 3.157.

The Irish also have five times had swimmers tabbed honorable mention Academic All-America by the CSCAA, a distinction awarded to all swimmers who post a 3.50+ GPA for the year and also register at least one NCAA "B" time (without earning a bid to the NCAA Championships). Ray Fitzpatrick was a winner in both 1999 and 2000, while three Irish swimmers -- senior Matt Obringer and freshmen Ted Brown and Tim Kegelman -- were honorees in 2004. Brown, Tim Randolph and Frank Krakowski earned the same distinction in 2005.

A unique opportunity to participate in a special honors program is available for student-athletes who excel both athletically and academically. The Notre Dame Academic Honors Program, which assists high academic achievers in a variety of areas so student-athletes can achieve their highest potential while attending the University, relies heavily on the recommendations of head coaches. The program matches student-athletes with mentors in their desired field of study and creates a network base which the students can use as they approach graduation. Former Irish football player Grant Irons had Tom Mendoza, for whom the Notre Dame Mendoza College of Business was named, as a mentor. Mendoza, in turn, introduced Irons to investment wizard Warren Buffet, who also has taken Irons under his wing.

Ten members of the Irish men's swimming and diving program have taken part in the honors program, including three on the current roster: senior Patrick Davis, and juniors Brown and Kegelman.

Irish men's swimmers and divers also have been tabbed BIG EAST Conference Academic All-Stars on 169 occasions since joining the league in 1995-96. To qualify for that honor, one must earn a monogram and post a 3.00 GPA for the academic year.

Note: 2005 conference alignments of that relay team.

Nick Fanslau swam on the 400-yard freestyle relay that clinched the Fighting Irish win over Pittsburgh on November 12, 2004, at the Rolfs Aquatic Center. The win snapped the Panthers 26-meet winning streak versus BIG EAST foes. Tim Kegelman, Frank Krakowski and Louis Cavadini were the other members of that relay team.

women's staff locker rooms. Offices for the Notre Dame swimming staff, aquatics directors, and lifeguards are deckside and glass-fronted with a view of the pool.

Several deckside instructional areas are located around the pool and feature infrared heat lamps, designed to keep wet swimmers warm between events. The pool features a stainless steel racing gutter which is designed to absorb the bow waves of a swimmer, allowing faster swimming times.

Another instructional feature is the two underwater windows which allow critiquing of a diver's or swimmer's underwater technique. The unique structural system consists of three trusses which span 120 feet, with the roof suspended below the trusses. In addition, the white exterior trusses provide an interesting and athletic character to the building. The lighting system is designed to be adjusted from maximum brightness for television to nearly dark for dramatic synchronized swimming presentations.

The center was officially dedicated on November 13, 1985.

Equipment necessary for the latest diving training techniques, including a trampoline, is located in the diving area. The Rolfs Aquatic Center diving well contains two one-meter boards and two three-meter boards.

The Irish swimming and diving teams compete in the state-of-the-art Rolfs Aquatic Center. After 27 years of intercollegiate swimming competition in the Rockne Memorial Pool, the Notre Dame swimming and diving programs entered a new era in 1985, as they moved to the $4.5-million natatorium located in the Joyce Center.

Donated by brothers Thomas and Robert Rolfs of West Bend, Wis., the Rolfs Aquatic Center provides Notre Dame with a modern, innovative facility on par with any other in the country. Ellerbe Architects and Engineers of Bloomington, Minn., the architects used in the planning of the Joyce Center, also were commissioned to design the 45,000-square-foot facility which houses a 50-meter Olympic pool (25 yards in width), spectator seating for 400 and support facilities.

The facility features two movable bulkheads to allow sections of the pool to be blocked off, allowing swimming competition and warm-up swimming to occur simultaneously. The design also allows recreational swimming, water polo, instructional swimming and other aquatic activities. Diving is accommodated with two one-meter boards and two three-meter boards.

Support functions housed in the center of the facility just below the spectator seating include men's and women's locker rooms, men's and women's varsity locker rooms, and men's and
